MARLOW RURAL CRIME 🇬🇧

Marlow NHPT have been receiving reports of dogs worrying and attacking livestock.

Incidents have been across our policing area, with recent incidents in Hughenden and Marlow. Sadly, at Marlow Common, a ewe was killed and has now left two orphaned lambs. Not only is this a cost to the farmer, but the lambs need special milk at additional cost.

🙏 Please take care in ensuring that dogs are kept on leads within our rural areas - As much as we all like to think our dogs have good recall, when faced with something activating their natural hunting instincts, dogs might not return. Failure to keep your dog under control could result in a hefty fine and possible court action. Thank you 🙏

Our Neighbourhood Team have recently been working alongside our partners at the RSPCA following reports of neglected ponies and horses in Chalfont St Peter. Two ponies were seized from this field last week however unfortunately both were so unwell they were subsequently put to sleep. While this is sad news, this is all the more reason to be aware of how you can report neglect and cruelty of animals in your area, for more information please <https://www.rspca.org.uk/.../contactus/reportcrueltyk/KKa33> #P0795

Why don't lambs make good detectives? They always miss the ewe-sual suspects.

Our Amersham Community Policing Team responded to a Rural Crime incident in the local area. Whilst there, PcsO Dyer made some new woolly friends .

Please be aware of dogs worrying and attacking livestock, they are particularly vulnerable this time of year with lambing currently in progress, let's support our farmers by respecting their livestock – keep your dog on a lead in your rural areas.

Supporting our local farmers and rural communities is important to us, they are valued members of our community and are particularly busy at this time of year, so thank you for all your hard work

If you see or experience crime in your area please do not hesitate to report it via phone or online

On 2nd April the local neighbourhood policing team, PC Neal and Inspector Duggan held a joint partnership meeting with the council to follow up with residents in Princes Risborough about the spike in anti-social behaviour and crime last summer. The community had a chance to ask the team questions and we can now share what was discussed:

- 📌 Closure Orders
- 📌 Criminal outcomes
- 📌 Housing solutions
- 📌 What our next steps are
- 📌 What learning the Police took onboard.

We also offered advice on reporting and how the community can engage with the neighbourhood team.

More information about the meeting has been sent to residents in a letter which has also been posted around Princes Risborough and put up on the local community boards in Costa, CO-OP, the town council board and handed to shops involved on the High Street. If you would like a copy of the letter please let us know by emailing us on HighWycombeRuralNHPT@thamesvalley.police.uk.
